

The second session of the Forty-eighth Congress met last Monday. The opening was preceded by a lively hand shaking and gossip between Senators and Representatives. A number of desks of members of both houses were decorated with floral tributes and other tokens of regard from their admirers. The galleries were well filled. The calendars of both houses show plenty of work mapped out for the session, but there is a general impression that the close of the 3d of next March will find few of them law. On the Senate side, there are 320 bills awaiting attention. Of these the most notable are: The bill to "appropriate and expend $50,000,000 derived from the internal revenue taxes and sale of public lands for the education of all the children living in the United States;" to repeal the timber culture act; to establish a bureau of statistics of labor; to provide means for the suppression and extirpation of pleuro-pneumonia and other contagious diseases among domestic animals; to prohibit the mailing of newspapers containing lottery advertisements; to provide for the inspection of meats for exportation; and prohibiting the importation of adulterated articles of food or drink; to establish a postal telegraph system; to give copyright to newspaper writers; to prohibit the importation and migration of foreigners and aliens under contract to perform labor in the United States; and that to legalize the incorporation of national trade unions. Then there are the bills affecting the Pacific railroads. The resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution making the presidential term six years is also on the calendar.

The House has, among the special orders, the Mexican pension bill, which has passed both houses, and is now held on amendments; the bill relating to the forfeiture of certain land grants to railroads; and the bill concerning the question of the presidential count and succession. The bill authorizing the construction of a new $200,000 building for the congressional library is also on the special orders. It has passed the Senate, and its friends are confident the House will act favorably on it at an early day.

Some other matters of importance are: The bill to extend the duration of the court of commissioners of Alabama claims; to provide for the more speedy delivery of letters at free delivery offices, and to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States. The last named bill passed the Senate in April, and it is thought the House will take it up early in the session, as the demand for its consideration is great in all parts of the country. A bill "for the relief of fruit growers, and to encourage the cultivation of fruits," which carries in it the repeal of the internal revenue taxes is well forward on the calendar of the committee of the whole. The Utah bill, which passed the Senate, is on the speaker's table. The private calendar is crowded to overflowing.

THE TARIFF THIS SESSION.

It is not probable that there will be any attempt at tariff legislation by the present session of Congress. The temper of the House on that subject was pretty well tested at the last session and the same impediments, a Republican president and Senate are in the way of any reform measure. In fact, the Morrison bill of last session was only a political measure, an attempt to make a Democratic platform before the convention met.

Messrs. Carlisle and Morrison were recently interviewed in this regard. The former said it was not possible that there would be any general tariff legislation this session. There is not time, he said, and the fact that a new administration is about to come in, Democrats and Republicans alike are disinclined to attempt anything like a general revision of the tariff now. Discussion of the Mexican treaty will, he thinks, open up the general tariff question and lead to some talk on it, but nothing further. He said it was possible that some amendments would be made at this session to remedy certain irregularities in the present tariff, but it was too early to predict the result. With respect to any general revision, he said, even should they all agree that such revision should be made, when they came to settle upon the details they would find such a difference of opinion that months would be needed in which to complete the work.

Mr. Morrison said, "I do not propose to attempt any experiments, but to wait until I find there is a reason to think a bill proposing a moderate reduction could pass this session. I shall certainly bring in such a bill." In answer to further questioning, Mr. Morrison said it was unlikely that the discussion of legislation necessary to carry the Mexican treaty into effect would open up the general tariff question.

The stone monument over John C. Calhoun and the marble in the monument over Lee came from New Hampshire. The States of North and South Carolina and Tennessee have better stone than any other State. Why neglect them?—Nashville World.

Yes, Why? Why buy all of our manufactured articles from the North when we have an abundance of the best quality of raw material at home? It has been so in the past, but because our people give their attention exclusively to agriculture. Progress has been retarded by political demagogues who cried down all spirit of enterprise with talk about "grinding monopolies," and such like. It is not going to be so in the future. The intelligence that recognizes the necessity of the South's developing its immense resources is growing stronger every day and the time will come when marble for monuments over the great Southern men will come from the South.

This time will arrive when the political sentiments now entertained by the World will be laid away in the grave.

SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST.

Person Talmage said in a recent sermon at the Brooklyn Tabernacle: "There is one law of evolution which we are particularly asked to adopt, the survival of the fittest. But do the fittest survive? Garfield died in June and Gileau was alive nearly a year after."

It is unbecoming to the clerical cloth and no benefit to the cause of religion for ministers to indulge in such miserable sophistry as this. Bro. Talmage should ask the insurance agent what they think about the "survival of the fittest." The CHRONICLE is a great religious newspaper, as a reference to "Our Letter Box" will prove, and we shall undertake to defend any scientific dogma that doesn't set well on the stomach of the most orthodox. But speaking of mollusks, monkeys and such like, the physically fittest generally lays it on to his weaker brother, and Dr. Talmage can't demolish Darwin with flimsy talk like the above.

While speaking in this connection we will produce an illustration which may serve the dual purpose of proving the theory above alluded to and making a practical suggestion as to the extermination of vermin. It is said that the one sure way to get rid of all the rats that may infest a premises is found in the following: Capture a half-dozen of these rodents by some means that won't injure them. Be sure that they are all strong and healthy and the best representatives of their species. Confine them together in a small box and subject them to absolute starvation. In a short time their nervous hunger will lead them to cannibalism and the weakest rat in the box will make a meal for his stronger fellow prisoners. This will go on till the strongest rat alone is left. In other words there will be a survival of the fittest. His nature in the meantime will have become completely depraved, and he will feed on nothing thereafter but his own kind. Turn him loose and he will go about seeking what rats he may devour.

His presence in a rat colony will be as terrible as the advent of an angel among mortals. In fact, if he could live long enough and travel far enough, he would destroy all rat kind and sigh because there were no more rats to consume.

The Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette's correspondent, sent out to report the political murders, kuxuking etc., that prevailed in the South during the recent campaign, wrote a letter from Nashville extending Tennessee from such charges. He was, in fact, disposed to overdo the thing as to this State and the following sentence will be about as great a surprise to persons familiar with the true state of things in the section mentioned as the stories of "Southern outrages" so frequently published in the Commercial-Gazette. The correspondent says:

It goes without saying that for a while here have been a few Republicans, but they are a man of ideas and push. Consequently, in Middle and West Tennessee it is getting to be a matter of pride to be known as a Republican. The white Republicans of Middle and West Tennessee, with rare exceptions, are as a set of rascals as ever disgraced a community.

The Tennessee Legislature will have a Democratic majority of 5 in the Senate and 25 in the House. A Comptroller and Treasurer are to be elected for two years each and a Secretary of State for four years. Col. Dave Nunn, of Brownsville, the present incumbent of the latter office, being a Republican, has no hope of re-election and will prepare to step down and out. Messrs. Pickard and Thomas, who fill respectively the offices of Comptroller and Treasurer, were elected two years ago and are Democrats of the approved stamp. They will be candidates for re-election.

SENATOR McFERRON has introduced a bill to suspend the coinage of silver dollars, to direct the Secretary of the Treasury to issue no more United States Treasury notes of less denomination than $5.00, and to destroy those in existence. It further provides for the issuance of silver certificates of the same denominations as the treasury notes to be canceled. The object of the bill, of course, is to get rid of the vast amount of silver accumulated in the vaults at Washington and to put it in circulation.

THE TENNESSEE ELECTIONS met in the Governor's office at the capital Wednesday and cast the vote of the State for Grover Cleveland for President and Thomas A. Hendricks for Vice President. Hon. J. D. C. Atkins presided and Mr. Heikel, of the Second District, was made secretary. Mr. Elkin, of the Fourth District, being kept away by sickness. Hon. S. F. Wilson was chosen in his place. The venerable Col. Robert L. Chester, of Jackson, was chosen to carry the vote to Washington.

THAT querulous old granny, the Memphis Appeal, continues to croak about "railroad outrages." The only sell-out to the railroads ever proven on any paper in Tennessee was that little transaction which involved the "Old Reliable," so called, and its present editors. Price, $7,000. R. J. Wicks, agent for the M. & C. R. R., purchaser.

Gen. Porfirio Diaz was inaugurated President of the Mexican Republic last Monday. In an interview Gen. Diaz said: "It will be my policy to advance the commercial interests of Mexico, and cultivate trade and intercourse with the United States. This is the wish of all intelligent and thinking Mexicans. The mutual interests of both countries demand closer relations."

This public debt statement just submitted, shows a decrease in the total debt since January, 1884, of $22,143,249, but there was an increase during the month of November of $747,124. The total debt of the government, less the cash in the treasury, is now $1,417,906,866.

This estimate submitted to the House committee on appropriations for the fiscal year ending 1885, places the amount needed for pensions at $90,000,000.

CANDIDATES for offices to be filled by the incoming legislature are cropping out all over the State and will meet the voters in various places where they go to the capital.

THE GOVERNOR OF ILLINOIS HAS GRANTED THE CERTIFICATE OF ELECTION.

The Governor of Illinois has granted the certificate of election, in the disputed Chicago district, to Lemmon, Republican. This will throw the work of contesting Brand, Democrat, in Illinois, upon the State Legislature which will be evenly divided on joint ballot. Brand's success will give the Democrats a majority of two.

AFTER a long discussion Tuesday, the House adopted Mr. Follett's resolution for the investigation of the conduct of Lot Wright, U. S. Marshal for the Southern District of Ohio, in appointing deputy marshals at the October election in that state.

A CAREFUL enquiry made by Bradstreet shows that 73,000 tons of pig iron have been shipped during 1884 to the North from the States of Maryland, Virginia, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and Kentucky.

COL. TOM NEAL, of Dyersburg, is being spoken of for Speaker of the House. If it should be left to the newspapers of the State he would be elected unanimously.

The Secretary of the Treasury recommends that the internal revenue tax be taken off of tobacco and retained on distilled liquors. His head is level.

BUTLER received 937 votes in Tennessee and St. John, 1,151. The latter got 9 votes in Montgomery county and the former none.

P. BOOKER REED was elected Mayor of Louisville Tuesday. He serves for three years.

GEN. LOGAN was the first man to make a motion in the Senate Monday.

President's Message. To the Congress of the United States: Since the close of your last session the American people, in the exercise of their right of suffrage, have chosen their chief magistrate for the four years ensuing. When it is remembered that the people in the country's history has the long political contest which customarily precedes the day of the national election been waged with greater fervor and intensity, it is a subject of congratulation that after the controversy at the polls was over, and the authorities, slight preponderance by which the issue had been determined was not unaccompanied, the public peace suffered no disturbance, but the people everywhere patiently and quietly awaited the result. Nothing could more strikingly illustrate the wisdom of our political institutions. Eight years have passed since a controversy concerning the result of presidential election sharply called the attention of the country to the necessity of providing more precise and definite regulations for counting the electoral vote.

It goes without saying that for a while here have been a few Republicans, but they are a man of ideas and push. Consequently, in Middle and West Tennessee it is getting to be a matter of pride to be known as a Republican. ## THE SEED SHOW.

A BIG AGRICULTURAL ENTERPRISE.

List of Valuable Premiums to be Awarded.

We give below the premium list of the Montgomery County Farmers' Fair-Stock exhibition and seed show to take place in this city on the 16th and 17th of this month. The officers of the Association have exerted themselves to make this affair a great success and a credit to the county, and it is hoped that their efforts will be ably seconded by the general public.

The premiums have been mostly contributed by the enterprising merchants of Clarksville, and are of such character as to liberally reward the successful exhibitors. One thing to especially induce a fine display at this show is that the county's exhibit at the World's Fair in New Orleans is to be made up from it. We hope there will be a very general and an active interest taken in the enterprise.
